OUTSIDE TEAMS WILL ENTER

The next big event carded by local bowlers is the Brunswick scratch tournament, to be pulled off on the Brunswick alleys in South Omaha, starting Saturday and continuing until all matches have been rolled. The tournament will be open to all comers and entries from outside towns are expected.

Frank Lepinski, who so successfully staged the Magic City tournament, will conduct this one and is giving his entire time towards making it a success. He has sent letters to numerous surrounding bowling towns inviting them to participate and expects favorable replies. Teams will probably be entered from Lincoln, Grand Island, Harlan, Ia.; Fremont, Missouri Valley and Blair.

All six organized South Omaha teams will enter and possibly one or two more will be organized from the Magic City bowling ranks. From Omaha the Stars, Burgess-Naak, Mickey Gibson's, Jetter's Old Age, Old Style, Lazars, Krug's Luxus, Stars and Stripes, Omaha Bicycle Indians, Basini's Old Mizzos, Lewis' Buffalo, Fairmont Creamery and an all star team from the Booster league, will enter. Entries close Thursday night and should be in Lepinski's hands by that time. Efforts will be made to accommodate all who enter, by giving them any time, they desire on the schedule. A few doubles and singles will be rolled Saturday afternoon, but the five-men event begins Saturday night.

Buttermakers Want Butterfat Out of Oleo

MASON CITY, Ia., March 9.—(Special Telegram.)—If the National Buttermakers' association measures up to its responsibility it must wage a fight against oleomargarine. To do it, it must demand that no butterfat enter into the production of oleo and buttermakers must have enough color in their butter so that it can be detected from oleo at once. The cry that oleo is the poor man's butter and by removing the tax of 10 cents it would have that amount to the consumer is the strong weapon of our adversary. This was the declaration of President Farrell in his annual address today. Six hundred and thirty-one tubs of butter are here being scored for the jubilee contest.

FIRST ANSWER OF CARRANZA IS GENERAL DENIAL

Under the order dispatched to Rear Admiral Fletcher the ships going to Vera Cruz may be under command of Rear Admiral Mayo of the first division, whose flagship is the Arkansas; Rear Admiral Booth of the second division, whose flag is on the Utah; Rear Admiral Coffman, third division, whose flagship is the Virginia, or Rear Admiral McLean, commanding the fourth division, whose flag is on the Connecticut.

No complaints have come as to conditions in the territory under control of Villa, the president said. Duval West, personal representative of the president, who has been conferring with Villa and his subordinate generals, is now on his way to Mexico City, where he will make an investigation of conditions there.

Silliman Presents Note.

General Carranza in an oral reply to American Consul Silliman, when the latter presented the note from the United States government on conditions in Mexico City, entered a general denial that General Obregon had prevented food from entering Mexico City or sent any supplies out of the city.

Carranza promised an early reply. Mr. Silliman reported. Eliseo Arrondondo, hitherto Washington representative of Carranza, and other advisers, were present during the conference.

Mr. Silliman reported at length, but officials did not disclose the contents of his message. It was believed, however, that from the fact that Carranza denied the activity attributed to him by official reports to the United States, the Mexican chief would not approve any further intervention to foreigners.

Consul Silliman's dispatches from Vera Cruz, saying the American note was formally presented to General Carranza yesterday afternoon arrived just before the cabinet meeting today and were laid before President Wilson as the cabinet officers assembled. Some of the cabinet members felt encouraged in the belief that Carranza would give assurances of protection to foreigners and permit supplies to reach the Mexican capital and prevent a crisis.

No further word has been received showing when Mexico City would be evacuated or whether Obregon would leave a small garrison there.

Acute Crisis Reached.

Many of the diplomatic representatives here called their governments that steps of a most important character had been taken by the United States, which probably would cause Carranza to change his attitude toward foreigners. None of the ambassadors would say whether they believed the use of force was intended to compel an observance of the demands of the American government, but many of them thought the note sent by the United States to Carranza clearly implied that the use of force might be the best development if there was not a favorable change in conditions.

Demands of U. S.

Specifically the United States has been making separate representations to obtain the following things from Carranza: Permission for the international relief commission, composed of wealthy residents of Mexico City, to use the funds they have collected for supplies to succor the starving and destitute and the placing at their disposal of transportation facilities to bring food into the capital.

The guarantee of a line of communication between Mexico City and Vera Cruz so that foreigners might have access to the sea and communication be kept open for foreign governments. The ordering of a sufficient garrison to stay in Mexico City in case of an evacuation so that riots and demonstrations of the mobs might be prevented and foreigners protected against violence.

SUFFS OBJECT TO THEIR OWN MOVIE

Prominent Supporters of the Cause Openly Criticize 'Your Girls and Mine' Picture.

DECLARE IT IS IMPOSSIBLE

The first open criticism of the suffrage movie "Your Girls and Mine," which was presented in Omaha last week, comes, not from the anti, but from one of the staunchest of local suffragists, Mrs. Mary I. Creigh.

"I am heartily ashamed of it. It was the most absurd, inane, senseless and nonsensical presentation I have ever seen. Indeed I came near going over to the anti side after viewing those pictures," declared Mrs. Creigh at a meeting of the current topics department of the Woman's club Tuesday.

"If such a production had been put on by those opposed to woman suffrage I would not have been surprised," continued Mrs. Creigh, "but that those who love the cause and are its most ardent supporters should have gotten up such an impossible production passes my understanding."

"All the evils from which women have suffered since the beginning of time are all placed in the path of one woman. Who is unwise to walk into all these evils. It is impossible."

Mrs. E. E. Stanfield also objected to the pictures because they portrayed all men as brutes. "I heard one young girl remark to her friend after seeing 'Your Girls and Mine,' 'I think your father and mine are the only good men in this world,'" related Mrs. Stanfield. When the suffrage movie was produced in Lincoln Mrs. J. W. Crumpacker, representative of the National Anti-Suffrage society, openly criticized the play, and local suffragists were looking for some such action from Omaha anti. That the discussion came from their own midst created no little surprise in suffrage circles.

Gate Receipts Are Feature of Kansas City Federal Case

CHICAGO, March 9.—Financial operations of the Federal league were dwelt upon today at the resumption of the hearing on the temporary injunction recently granted by Judge Baldwin in the circuit court restraining the league from transferring the Kansas City franchise to Newark, N. J.

Counsel for the Kansas City club asserted that officials of the league received the gate receipts of the club after advancing it a $5,000 loan, but had neglected to give an accounting of the receipts.

The club lost heavily last season, and as officials of the league contended that it had not lived up to its financial obligations, the franchise was transferred to Newark.

The bill was sent to the legislature at the request of the Grand Army of the Republic officials who are anxious to secure more complete data concerning survivors of the three wars living in Nebraska. It is not believed, however, that any survivors of the war of 1812 will be found.

Czar Uses Drastic Means to Maintain Discipline in Army

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

DUBLIN, Feb. 26.—A more favorable view of the discipline in the Russian army in Galicia than prevailed during the autumn invasion of East Prussia is given by Leonard Adel, the war correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, who recently visited Neu-Sandee on the Dunajec river a short time after it had been evacuated by the Russian army.

At the corner of one street he saw a hook fastened to the wall, from which, as he was informed by the citizens, the Russians had hanged one of their soldiers for plundering. There was still visible on the adjacent wall the following inscription in Russian: "The czar sent out soldiers, not pillagers, to fight for him." Adel goes on to say that the Russians maintained strict discipline in the city. As further examples of their stringency he mentions that one soldier, who stole a ham, was given fifty strokes with the knout, while another, who strayed into the quarters of other soldiers and made undue noise there, got thirty strokes.

In the Bukovina the Russians demonstrated the sincerity of their newly acquired temperance principles by emptying all strong liquors into the gutters.
